BROADS HOLIDAYS

4 Hamilton Road, Great Yarmouth, Norfolk. Telephone 55256

FRONTISPIECE

NORFOLK COUNTY COUNCIL COAT OF ARMS

The authority for the Norfolk County Council to bear Arms was granted by Royal Licence on May 11th, 1904. The arms were those of a Norman noble, Ralph de Guader or Waer, who was the first to bear the titular designation of Earl of Norfolk. The title was conferred by the Conqueror, and Ralph afterwards distinguished himself by rebelling against the Conqueror and then running away, leaving his wife in charge of the Castle at Norwich. He died on his way to the Crusade and left no descendants in England capable of bearing Arms. It appears that Ralph bore no arms at all, but it was the practice of Heralds, when arms came to be borne at the Crusades, to assign arms to all sorts of people, and arms were assigned, amongst others, to Ralph.

The Chief is by way of Royal Augmentation in commemoration of his Majesty's long residence in the Country as King and Prince of Wales, the lion passant guardant being taken from the Royal Arms and flanked by the Prince of Wales's plumes princely crowned.

The Norfolk Wherry has through two centuries been a delight to the people of Norfolk, in part a vessel of trade and employment but in part providing an inspiration to artists and writers throughout the generations.

These powerful sailormen both graceful and swift are an inherent part of the Broadland scene with their huge black sails appearing to cut across the fairway with a bluff bow sending a smother of foam astern enough to give a thrill to any onlooker who perchance should catch this sight that will long be remembered.

Seen from the deck of a small craft these Norfolk traders with a rugged Wherryman at the helm, one eye aloft on the masthead vane he displays the art of a sailorman at its finest. Just such a man is our own "Nat Bircham" master of the Norfolk Wherry Trust vessel "ALBION."

The Albion, the very last of "The Black Sailed Traders" in Norfolk, is our heritage for there is nothing more Norfolk than a Wherry and their highways that are the Norfolk Broads still survive to remind us of our proud and capable forbears that were sailors for their livelihood and artists in their craft.

THE HOLIDAY STORY

For you the Holidaymaker,

Do you like our cover?

Here is a real photograph of the Wherry "ALBION" on Wroxham Broad. This is Norfolk, the Broads, a craft underway, no dream of far off places.

The wind of change sweeps over the land and like the Autumn leaves we are all borne along. Change has come to the North Sea, to Norfolk, to the Broads and so to Broads Holidays. Change for the better, modern, forward looking planned improvements for comfort and enjoyment, where the old blends with the new, rivers and sea unite, our domain is better for the change, that service and comfort which modern science has brought to our industry, lending power to the elbow where once we were very rural industries indeed.

Why should we, so well endowed with the worldly wealth of sun, sea and open planned pleasures provided by "Dame Nature", be pleased to see some change. Why not indeed, when the inroads of nature to overgrow our rivers and Broads, erode the beaches, and sweep away the most precious of our belongings before winter's storms and gales. We need all the help that modern equipment and machinery can bring to our aid in changing the balance of power just a little in our favour against the might of ocean and tempest.

Here the Holiday Story is written each year, in each coming Season of happiness, of holiday joy, there is a chapter of effort and achievement to win the battle of the winter, to make ready and provide all spick and span, anew each spring, a lively, happy scene for you, our holidaymakers, to enjoy in full, throughout the long soft days of high summer, and while you blissfully, within the county, spend your well earned rest, well we know that change has made possible the extent of that enjoyment.

Broads Holidays are having to change to keep this story up to date within these handsome covers of the Norfolk scene. We have had to move and change, and change again, until we now have found an ideal home of new and generous proportion and design. "Port of Yarmouth Marina" is well named and on other pages in this book the details have been laid out more clearly for you to see, the office block is by the road with 'bus stops—car park, and fully staffed. While riverside, a well conceived layout of services are to be provided. Change—Change—Change, this is the 1967 chapter in the Holiday Story and we at Broads Holidays are in the fore with modern, tasteful change for your enjoyment, entertainment and personal service from our new home, we will, as always, greet you and wish you well.

Happy holidaymaking,

Herbert L. Prior

Motor Cruisers

Small craft on calm and inland waters have been a basic industry hereabouts for centuries; we know of boats, tides and water enjoyment more than most. Unimpaired by locks, narrow navigation and limited travel, we offer the very best in this class of holiday that has proved so popular that others elsewhere may envy. The limits of unrestricted travel you may enjoy are some 200 miles of open water, master of your own craft, designed to give maximum economic cruising in comfort, limited only by the very extent of your craft and budget.

Broads Holidays have always maintained a fleet of craft whose extent will cover family parties of up to 8/9 persons. Our extensive local knowledge and vast experience in the hire craft industry has evolved the Broads-type craft that will fulfil your needs throughout your holiday, enabling the most novice of hirers to become expert at handling their command before their holiday is complete.

The Norfolk Broads and Motor Cruisers are like saying "Bread and Butter", they go together, this is the result of over half a century of experience hiring out boats to holidaymakers who in their enjoyment, interest others who come, whose children come. These Norfolk men who build the boats to let to you, know what you want and where you want to go, the ease of handling and why the galley is so equipped, because throughout their lives they have found what serves you best and why a happy holidaymaker will return home pleased to tell his friends how pleased he was he came to Norfolk aboard a Motor Cruiser.

NORWICH CATHEDRAL

Friends

So described in the Oxford Dictionary, "as one joined to another in mutual benevolence". How so are we joined "The Society of Friends of Norwich Cathedral". In harmony with the work to hand providing a task that is a challenge to us all yet gladly undertaken, for friends working together can achieve much, however small the individual effort. The minimum required to join The Society of Friends is small, Ten Shillings per annum. There are no doubt those who will feel privileged and contribute larger sums that will help our work more quickly on its way, to all we extend a very warm welcome to "The Society of Friends of Norwich Cathedral".
LIFE MEMBERSHIP IS TEN POUNDS

Friends of Norwich Cathedral

How hard the task, and how good the men that built so well, to last so long? These questions pass through our minds, as often we stand to look and wonder, stonemasons, carpenters, joiners, architects, master craftsmen and humble labourers, so united in one task to build into this Cathedral their art, that there was produced such magnificence standing here, a living example of what can be done with common effort.

Age is no respecter of beauty, status or functions, and so we find as the years creep on, the very wood and stone or metal that builders used, decay and rot, or are eroded by wind and weather or even time itself, each generation is called upon to repair and renew. This, therefore, is the task we gladly accept with all the difficulties and costs involved.

Wonderful restoration work has been done in recent years. More is in hand and yet we foresee an even greater need for help. This is an opportunity to further ensure the Norfolk scene, of which the Norwich Cathedral holds pride of place, is maintained into future generations. By your membership into Friends of Norwich Cathedral we can carry forward on funds collected this great work that needs so badly your generosity and friendships.

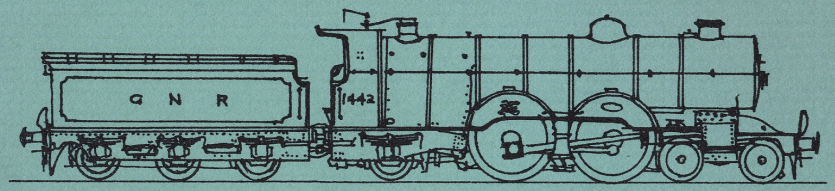
THE BARTON HOUSE RAILWAY - WROXHAM

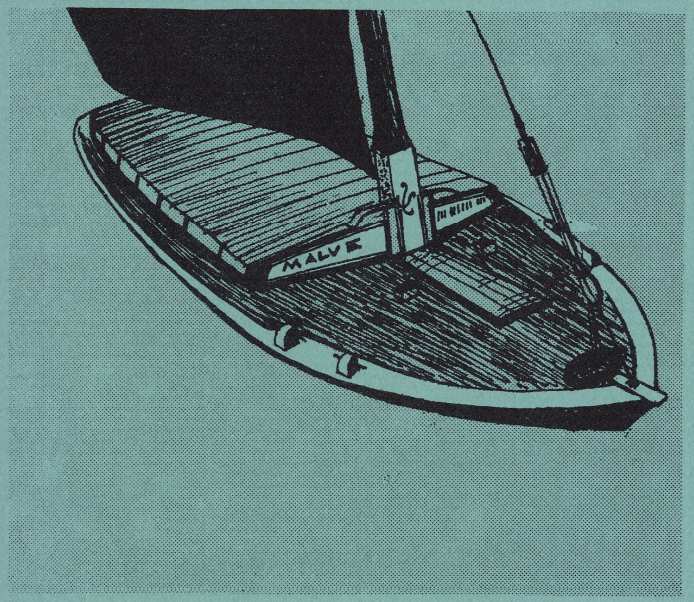


G.N.R. LARGE BOILERED ATLANTIC No. 1442

The Barton House Railway offers a fine opportunity when in Wroxham to see and enjoy a ride on this example of a ¾" scale model railway, comprising two G.N.R. Ivatt Atlantic Locomotives running on an oval track of some 80 yards extent, which is fully equipped with signals-signs, station, booking office and signal box almost all of which are authentic original equipment recovered from the now non-existent M. and G.N. Railway.

Well worth a visit and all enthusiasts will enjoy a ride.

The railway will be running on the third Sunday in each month 2.30 to 5.30 p.m. from April to October.



THE NORFOLK WHERRY TRUST

The basic hull shape of the Wherry stems from the Viking longships which landed on our shores over a thousand years ago. Even in the late sixteenth century the Wherry carried a large square sail amid-ships. It was in 1568, when the Dutch came to Norfolk after the oppression and religious persecution of the Spaniards, that the Norfolk ship-wrights had any first-hand knowledge of the new "fore-and-aft" rig. They built new vessels carrying this rig and it was found that the Wherry sailed closer to the wind than almost any vessel in the world.

Alas, of this class of sailing vessel the "Albion" is the only one still trading, their end having been brought about by mechanisation and progress.

WORLD ANGLING CHAMPIONSHIP

Not many places can claim international Angling fame but such is the honour of Norfolk. Fifteen Nations came from afar to compete in the World Angling Championship on the River Thurne at Martham in 1966 on Sunday, October 1st. The individual honour for a bag of 11 lb. 13½ ozs. went to H. Guilheneuf. It is, however, on record that this is no heavy bag for the area, there having been 35 lb. Pike recorded at nearby Hickling and days of bream sport in excess of 100 lbs.

THE BERNEY ARMS P.H.

Here is a public house and windmill of character which stand in splendid isolation alone. The only real approach is by river and our Burgh Castle Yacht Station is the nearest haven. Mine Host the Landlord needs philosophy and humour to maintain the spirit of his lonely Tavern, and so you will find him. On delivery days you will see the Burgh Castle Yacht Station crew with their work boat down to the gunwales with beer, ferrying the stock out to "The Berney Arms", a worthwhile trip so I am told.

THE NORFOLK WINDMILL

Working Windmills, except for a few well-preserved survivors, are nearly a part of History. Their revolving sails, the thunder of giant, hand-carved machinery today is rarely heard, for progress has passed them. The Windmill era in Norfolk evolved with the land reclamation schemes of the great Lords Berney, Stracey and Calthorpe who, during the seventeenth century, took seriously the problems of flooding and drainage on the vast Broadland Marshes. By the beginning of this century, however, the windmill had reached its peak in performance. In spite of this the motive power was still wind, when the wind ceased blowing the mills ceased to work. By this time, however, more reliable and efficient methods of doing their work were discovered—marking the end of the windmill.

Nostalgia and a love for the past stirred a few people to preserve mills for posterity. The Ministry of Works Mill at Berney Arms (having seven floors and reputed to be the tallest in Norfolk) is hoped to be open this summer. The Norfolk County Council, however, has undertaken to preserve a number of mills, the ones at Cley, Billingford, Stracey Arms, Horsey and Thurne Dyke have been completed and about twelve more are yet to be restored.

Join The Broads Society and help to maintain Broadlands pleasant life

When you pause in your cruise, or when you get home from your holiday and think about the Broads, does it occur to you that someone should look after your interests when you are away from these waters? The Broads Society was formed for this purpose, and its officers and members continually keep a watch on activities that are likely to spoil these unique waters and the countryside that contains them. During the past year the Society has taken action against the encroachment of certain waters by building development; it has recommended action regarding speed and wash of fast boats, and assisted in the preservation of windmills. It has encouraged and supported more work on dredging and given consideration to problems arising from the varying interests of different groups which are active on and near the water.

The larger question of whether the Broads should be designated a National Park is at the moment seriously occupying the Society. From time to time reports on all these matters are issued in Bulletin form to all members. By joining the Society you can participate in and support its work. Let us look after your Broadland interests whilst you are away. Full membership costs £1 per year and associate membership a modest 5/–. If you care to help in the urgent work the Society is performing for the benefit of everyone using the Broads, please communicate with the
