

HAPPY TO COOK UP FOR CAREVAN

Monday, November 17, 2014

SHARING HIS SKILLS: Danny Moore has found a rewarding way to help his community, by volunteering at cook-ups for Wangaratta Carevan. PHOTO: Luke Plummer

DANNY Moore is a prime example of the positive changes effected by the Rural City of Wangaratta's Community Food for All (CFFA) initiative.

The trained pastry chef and baker attended a recent CFFA forum to hear what the initiative was all about, and walked away with an invitation to help Inner Wheel with its regular Carevan cook-ups.

Danny, who attends Mind Wangaratta Community Services, said the monthly cooking sessions had offered him a great opportunity to participate in community events.

"It's good to be contributing," he said.

"It's rewarding work, and I enjoy it; I'll stay involved with it as long as I can."

Inner Wheel's Patti Stafford said she wasted no time snapping up Danny's cooking abilities for the group, and had been thrilled to have him involved in the cook-ups, which prepare wholesome food to be served from the Carevan to local residents.

"Danny is marvellous," she said.

"He certainly knows what he's doing, he knows how to work, he's a wonderful volunteer."