NYOrtho

9597-4GEL

4-Chamber Gel Cushion

The NYOrtho™ APEX QUAD Gel Wheelchair Cushion features a design that chambers the quad gel pod closer to the top of the cushion, providing a cooler interface between the patient and wheelchair. The quad-compartment gel pod provides greater control over gel distribution across the seating surface, supporting a more consistent seating interface during use. A stretch cover improves moisture evaporation, supporting the APEX design features.

Dual-density layers and quad-chambered gel pod

RECOMMENDED USE

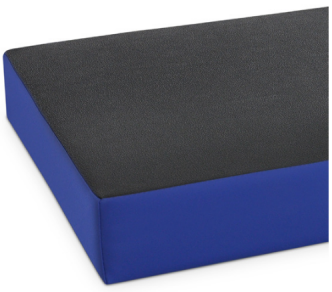

Wheelchair users with physical or cognitive impairments who require supportive seating to maintain comfort and positioning during prolonged seated use and who may be at increased risk of pressure-related skin concerns due to limited mobility or extended sitting.

FEATURES

- APEX QUAD features a quad-chambered gel insert that provides greater control over gel distribution, maintaining consistent gel placement and a stable seating interface during use.
- Dual-density construction provides a soft top entry layer to promote direct interface with the cooling gel pod, along with a higher-density base layer for support and pressure distribution.
- Gel insert helps create a cooler interface by dissipating heat away from high-contact areas during prolonged seated use.
- The design chambers the gel pod closer to the surface to provide a cooler interface between the patient and wheelchair and help reduce interface pressure.
- Stretch cover promotes moisture evaporation; antimicrobial, water-resistant, and mildew-resistant.
- Aggressive non-slip bottom with quick-release straps helps keep the cushion securely positioned on the wheelchair seat.
- Bariatric sizes utilize maximum density to support durability and longevity.
- Meets CA 117-2013 flammability standards.
