Related Initiatives
Initiatives relevant for the 'Climate Change and International Security' project
11 Initiatives

Africa, Climate Change, Environment and Security Dialogue Process
The negative impacts of climate change combined with a growing population, poverty, the current number of existing conflicts, weak state structures, and low capacities to respond have potentially high consequences on security in Africa. In order to...
View Initiative (Webpage - www.madariaga.org)

Africa-EU Strategic Partnership
The African Union and the European Union work in partnership on a range of important issues referred in the 2nd Action Plan (JAES) adopted at the 3rd Africa EU Summit, on 29-30 November 2010, in Tripoli,...
View Initiative (Webpage - www.africa-eu-partnership.org)

Climate Change & Security at Copenhagen
On 17 March 2009, the Institute for Environmental Security and the Global Legislators Organisation for a Balanced Environment (GLOBE-EU) in partnership with the Woodrow Wilson Center for Scholars, organised the conference Climate Change & Security...
View Initiative (Webpage - www.envirosecurity.org)

Climate Change & Security at Copenhagen II
On 7 and 8 October 2009, the Institute for Environmental Security and its partners met at the European Parliament in Brussels to discuss the state of affairs in the lead up to the...
View Initiative (Webpage - www.envirosecurity.org)

Climate Change & Security at Copenhagen III
On 29 October in Washington, D.C., the Institute for Environmental Security organised the third event of the series entitled "Climate Change & Security at...
View Initiative (Webpage - www.envirosecurity.org)

Climate Change: Insight from King's
A panel discussion called 'Climate Change: Insight from King's' was held on 30 September 2008 in London for King's Fellows and alumni. Experts from King's discussed insights stemming from their academic research and explored the scientific, economic...
View Initiative (Webpage - www.kings.cam.ac.uk)

Constitutional Design and Conflict Management (CDCM) in Africa
The CCAPS program spearheads an investigation by seven of the world?s leading scholars of Constitutional Design and Conflict Management (CDCM) in Africa. Each scholar examines a different African country to determine how past climate-related and...
View Initiative (Webpage - ccaps.strausscenter.org)

Environmental Violence and Security: Implications for Global Security
Environmental security threats are becoming increasingly prominent within the Canadian security agenda. Two recent assessments of Canadian security priorities, Securing an Open Society: Canada's National Security Priority (April 2004) and Canada's...
View Initiative (Webpage - www.portalfornorthamerica.org)

Presidential Climate Action Project
The Presidential Climate Action Project was created in January 2007 to develop policy recommendations on climate change and clean energy for the 2008 presidential candidates and the Obama Administration. The project issued four reports containing...
View Initiative (Webpage - www.climateactionproject.com)

Security Implications of Climate Change
Co-Chairs: CSCAP Malaysia, Aus CSCAP and CSCAP...
View Initiative (Webpage - www.cscap.org)

The Copenhagen Communiqu? on Climate Change
This communiqu? is being issued by the business leaders of over 500 global companies. It calls for an ambitious, robust and equitable global deal on climate change that responds credibly to the scale and urgency of the crises facing the world today.
View Initiative (PDF - www.copenhagencommunique.com)