So, I'm getting ready for my Citizen Activism 101 workshop on the 28th and am reminded of a great tool I talk about. It's a HUGE compendium of guidance about all sorts of activism in the form of an online manual called The Community Toolbox. Here's their little Intro video. <https://ctb.ku.edu/en> Cute little video about CTB:

And, another option for community engagement I discuss in my Citizen Activism workshop is joining a Board, Commission, Advisory Group, etc. from you local, or even state, government entity. Like what the city of Portland encouraged with this graphic...

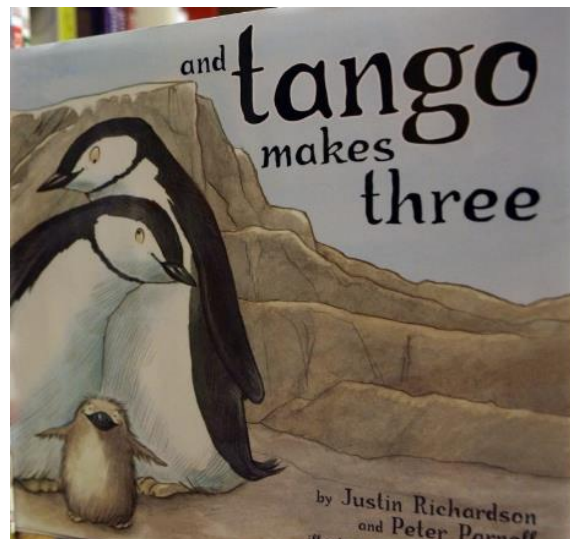

JOIN AN ADVISORY BODY

OFFICE OF Community & Civic Life

Open Positions:

- Golf Advisory Committee
- Citizen Review Committee
- Portland Clean Energy Fund Community Benefits Fund Committee
- Police Review Board
- Portland Committee on Community Engaged Policing
- New Portlanders Policy Commission
- Private For-Hire Transportation Advisory Committee
- Transportation Network Company Driver Advisory Committee
