

THE ZEIN GROUP HOLDING COMPANY

Welcome to Our Presentation

We present to you this presentation, which includes a modest feasibility study for the project from all aspects in terms of comparing financial expenses, reducing expenses on the state treasury, and other aspects important to every company, such as defense companies that intend to invest in the project.

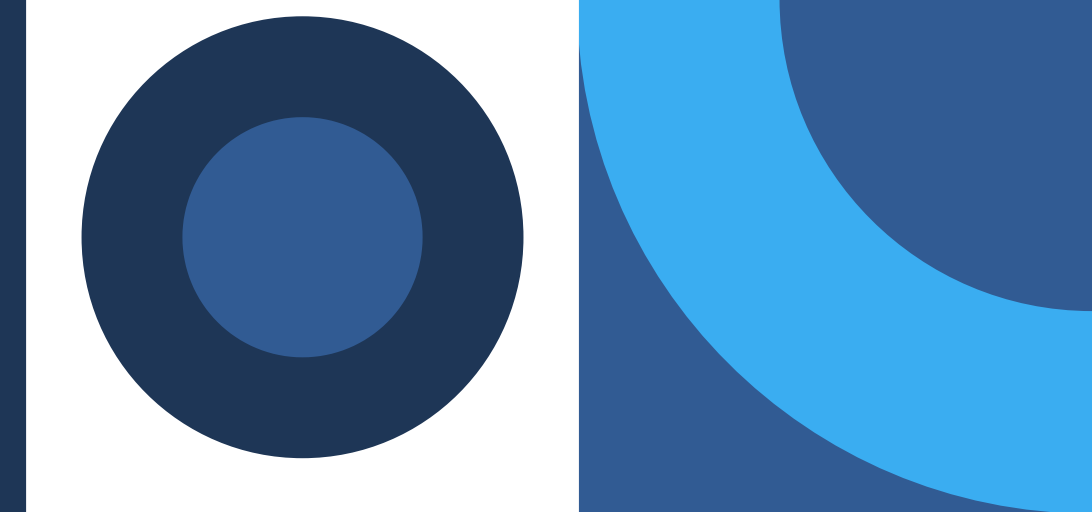

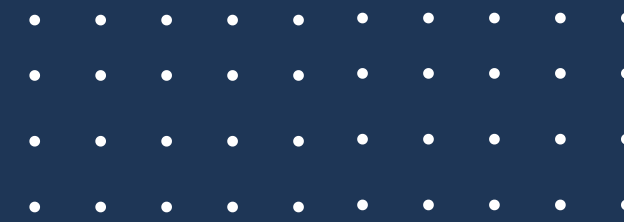

About Our Project

The Zein Group Holding Company provides government agencies such as national security agencies and foreign missions with Encrypted Headphones Series that are integrated with military-grade encryption technologies classified as “Top Secret” to combat spying on the communications of presidents, ministers, and senior local and international officials in the armed forces and various ministries that deal with confidential defense information, to ensure that highly sensitive government communications are not exposed to spying by hackers and are protected from all types of severe attacks.

Project Saving

The project can reduce the high costs of encrypted phones, private networks, regular maintenance of devices and networks, and hiring workers, making our project more valuable in terms of achieving absolute protection and security and not needing all of the above.

DEFINITION:

80% SAVE

The project contributes to saving more than 80% of the state treasury's expenses, in terms of reducing administrative, operational and maintenance costs.

Target Market

The project targets specific and multiple categories, such as defense organizations, government organizations, national security agencies, foreign missions, etc., to provide the highest level of security for local and international communications made over the public cellular network under any circumstances, anywhere in the world, and on all types of terminal equipment.

MILITARY COMMUNICATION GROWTH

The global military communication market size was valued at USD 33.12 billion in 2023. The market is projected to grow from USD 34.74 billion in 2024 to USD 60.40 billion by 2032, exhibiting a CAGR of 7.2% during the forecast period.

CRYPTOGRAPHY GROWTH

The global quantum cryptography market size was estimated at USD 518.3 million in 2023 and is projected to grow at a CAGR of 38.3% from 2024 to 2030. The increase in cybersecurity threats and the advent of quantum computing are driving the demand for quantum cryptography.

Project Investment

The project can be invested at the level of defense companies and telecommunications companies associated with the public sector, which we can contract with to license its resale at the local or international level to the company investing in the project.

Beneficiary Organizations

DEFENSE

Defense organizations such as the Department of Defense leverage our encrypted headphones series project to provide confidential communications between military personnel and senior defense military officials.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

Diplomatic agencies such as the State Department and foreign missions leverage our encrypted headphones series project to provide confidential communications between mission personnel and senior local and international diplomatic officials.

GOVERNMENTS

Government organizations such as the Presidency and the Government utilize our encrypted headphones series project to provide confidential communications between the Prime Minister, Ministers and other government agencies.

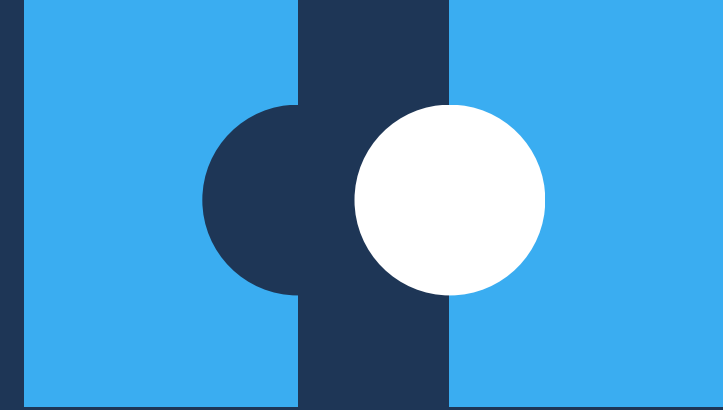

Conclusion

Finally, we demonstrated the difference in this modest presentation between traditional administrative and operational expenses that cost the state great burdens, while our project reduces exorbitant costs and expenses and achieves the goal of comprehensive and absolute protection of highly confidential communications.
