

The Sacred Alchemy of a Sovereign Soul that does not compromise its truth, authenticity, for Societal comfort

by Pedro Lima

I am not here to participate in petty, emotional, narcissistic, manipulative, parasitic, mediocre enmeshment games. I refuse to entertain the illusions, projections, and fear-based attachments of those who lack integrity, accountability, and emotional maturity.

I carry the inner discernment, assertiveness, courage, and unshakable strength to cut off anyone, regardless of who they are, if they do not approach me with purity, honesty, respect, and genuine intentions.

I hold no space for those who cannot meet me with my best interest at heart.

I do not compromise my inner peace, my sovereignty, my authenticity, or my independence for the comfort of others.

I do not dilute myself to make anyone feel safer in their illusions.

I do not bend my truth to soothe fragile egoic attachments.

My fulfillment, validation, peace, abundance, creativity and joy come from within, from my inner wisdom, my divine connection, my core values, and my alignment with the Universe.

I do not rely on anyone to validate me, elevate me, or fill any void. I am whole in my sacred energy.

I honor the embodiment of my authentic self with integrity, creativity, honesty, and unapologetic truth. I walk with presence. I trust the unknown. I move in faith, guided by my inner compass and the universal current that aligns me with my path.

I cut through the mediocre, egoic, soulless, manipulative games of society with clarity, assertive and precision. I do not tolerate or engage with fakery, deceit, entitlement, or emotional parasitism.

I welcome only sovereign, genuine, authentic, pure-hearted Souls, those who stand in their own autonomy, integrity, and wholeness.

My boundaries are sacred.

My energy is sovereign.

My presence is truth.

My essence is untouchable.

“I walked through darkness with scars on my flesh but a purified heart. This is the sacred alchemy of a sovereign Soul, one that refuses to let fear distort its authentic essence, refuses to remain bound by corrupt hierarchical narratives of external validation, and refuses to self-betray for the comfort, approval, or expectations of society.” - Pedro