

Aligned With My Soul, Bound to Nothing

by Pedro Lima

I do not compromise my inner knowing, my divine compass, to worship people, places, fear-based scripts, egoic hierarchies, or any institution built on deception, hierarchical control, secrecy, dependency, or illusion.

My allegiance is to my truth, to the sacred, sovereign wisdom that lives within me.

I honor my inner authority with unwavering integrity.

I am accountable only for my inner world: for how I choose, in each moment, to stand in my authentic presence, regardless of who misunderstands, judges, projects, or demands that I dim my light.

My energy is sacred, and I do not consent to anyone feeling entitled to it.

I am fulfilled from within. No person, no system, no ideology define or complete me because I am already whole.

I co-create with the divine current of the Universe, not with the fear-based illusions society tries to impose.

I choose alignment over approval, truth over comfort, or compliance, sovereignty over indoctrination.

I express myself without distortion, and I set clear, assertive boundaries with anyone who reacts from their unresolved fears, attachments, expectations, or projections.

I do not live bound by the egoic narratives of others.

I live aligned with my Soul, free, present, and sovereign in my own light.