

Energy Never Lies – The Exposure of the False Self

by Pedro Lima

False, inauthentic, manipulative, self-serving, surface-level, entitled, delusional people assume their mediocre, petty, hollow, parasitic emotional games will work on everyone without karmic consequences.

They try to “read” and exploit others, feeding on fear, lack, codependency, and unworthiness wounds, weaponizing narcissistic intimidation and manipulative tactics to survive in ignorance.

They accumulate karmic debt while sitting in prideful egoic illusions, hiding behind curated fragile stories meant to justify their lack of self-love, self-respect, and self-dignity.

They lack the courage to face their own shadows, so they lie, deceive, plot, manipulate, and chase external validation to preserve a fragile, insecure, fear-based false identity.

They operate without inner discernment, without authenticity, without self-love, and without conscious awareness, refusing accountability for their own thoughts, intentions, actions, and choices in life.

A delusional, entitled, paranoid envious and jealous narcissist can mask themselves with personas, behaviors, beliefs, and fabricated delusional hollow projections to diminish others, but their energy signature never lies.

The energetic vibration of truth always exposes what egoic fear tries to hide.

We always reap what we have sown in divine order.
