

The Illusion of Control and the Inevitable Karmic Unapologetic Energetic Balance

by Pedro Lima

An ego-based, Narcissistic, petty society is all about control, manipulation, lies, secrecy, deception, and indoctrinates hollow, surface-level, self-serving, binding, parasitic narratives, delusional stories, ideologies, dogmas, and frameworks rooted in separation, fear, lack, and punishment, as well as hierarchical, false authority figures and hypocritical, distorted moral judgments.

A narcissistic, entitled, hollow, collective commodifies people as objects, clinging to deep-rooted, delusional fear-based projections, self-conditioning, unworthiness, petty and bitter stories, beliefs, and toxic patterns of superiority, ignorant behavior meant to legitimize prideful ignorance, denial, illusions, and its own lack of courage, and conscious discernment, lack of self-accountability, self-respect, self-dignity, self-love, self-awareness, and self-acceptance.

This collective survives in a bureaucratic maze of corruption, chaos, confusion, conflict, and deception sustained by fear-based laws, rules, norms, and policies meant to exert coercion, intimidation, threatening to punish anyone who does not bend, bow, obey, comply, is not submissive, subservient, anyone who does not betray themselves to fit into the opinions, expectations, corrupt greedy shallow soulless agendas of some insecure, fragile “minions” in their delusional prideful ignorant egoic pedestals.

The false hierarchy, authority indoctrinated in this narcissistic, feudal, colonial, parasitic societal systemic landscape, shapes the collective perception through the illusion of power, wealth, and status, commodification of people as objects, a number, something they can use, abuse, misuse, exploit, punish, dismiss, enslave, and sacrifice.

This soulless, corrupt false hierarchical institutionalization, when it cannot sustain greedy parasitic self-serving hollow agendas, propaganda, cannot benefit, drain, and profit from the blindfolded ignorance, fear, obedience, and subservience of an exhausted, enslaved, powerless collective, then it creates more fear to break the resistance of the collective, keep them “in line”, portraying themselves as paladins of wisdom, knowledge, justice, truth, hiding behind fragile, curated false identities, roles, titles, corrupt frameworks, and beliefs, assuming, believing that their egoic illusions will grant them Karmic immunity, consumed by pride, greed, a distorted and dystopian fragile sense of self.

Entitled, curated, hollow, petty narcissists believe that they can get away with it without karmic consequences, but their blindfolded prideful ignorance attachments will not save them from their own reaping season. Their illusions led them to think that they could hide behind the scenes and reverse the energies they projected outwards, which diminished others, expecting to get away with it. But clinging to any levels of ignorance and delusion does not exempt them from karmic judgment. We will ALWAYS reap what we have sown. We have the free will, the power of choice in each moment to make conscious choices, self-reflecting to take accountability for how we process our intentions, thoughts, actions, emotions, feelings, decisions, and choices.

A narcissistic collective strives to find comfort in fear, pride, ignorance, and the illusion of control, power over others, complacent with its own lack of inner worth, creating frameworks that label, categorize, and justify exploitation, parasitism, malice, ill intentions towards others, finding distorted excuses to avoid growth, self-accountability, seeking to normalize self-conditioning, self-victimization, self-deception, and self-betrayal.
