

A Soul Transmission on False Authority, Narcissistic Systems, and Authentic Leadership

by Pedro Lima

Parasitism, ignorance, deception, exploitation, gaslighting, manipulation, speculation, malice, control, status, greed, and fear consume a narcissistic, ego-based, soulless society. A society that indoctrinates to sustain a false authority and a false order, disseminating delusional, binding propaganda, fear-based, and divisive ideologies, dogmas, paradigms, and normalized cultural beliefs, stories, and habits rooted in scarcity, competition, comparison, obedience, prideful ignorance, and a false sense of superiority.

A society rooted in distortion clings to the illusion of me versus others, for me to win, others have to lose, choosing sides to enforce, coerce, destroy, and diminish others who do not align with their egoic self-serving illusions and greedy hollow agendas.

All to legitimize a bitter, petty, tainted, unhealed heart holding onto unresolved emotional pain, suffering, and trauma, that wants to be seen, praised, worshiped, and approved by others. Hiding behind self-deception, victimization, parasitism, and self-betrayal, projecting outward blame, complaints, judgments, indulging in petty, mediocre social validation parties, mediocre cults, and clubs: lying, gossiping, gaslighting, plotting, deceiving, and manipulating in secrecy. Putting up hypocritical moral facades. Portraying themselves as paladins of justice and order. Specialists, gurus, authorities of truth, knowledge, and cosmic wisdom.

Authorities that cannot be questioned. Cannot be scrutinized. That must be worshiped. Treated as above others. As if falsehood, ignorance, and grandiose narcissistic illusions could grant spiritual karmic immunity.

A middleman or woman who lacks inner alignment, self-respect, self-dignity, self-awareness, humility, self-reflection, and inner discernment is unable to stay in their own lane with integrity and honor, focused on their inner work. Instead, hiding behind curated narratives meant to bind others, inducing codependency, commodifying, accumulating, hoarding, building wealth at the expense of others ignorance, misery, and disconnection from their true, authentic essence and divine potential.

Leaders do not seek followers. They do not seek support through codependent relationships. They do not rely on clout, fame, or false authority. They do not cling to hierarchical titles, ranks, or roles. They are present. Truthful. Genuine. Creative. Resourceful. Authentic. Sovereign.

Empowered by their inner intuitive authority compass to lead, guide, and support others who also honor with integrity the leader's guidance on their journeys of self-discovery, ascension, being a guiding light without egoic, controlling strings attached, yet not allowing anyone to attach to their energy, not tolerating free loaders. Knowing who they truly are. Honoring their souls with the highest integrity, as others also. Taking accountability for their own thoughts, intentions.

Authentic leaders do not allow themselves to be swayed, tempted, controlled, or corrupted by anyone seeking to lobby, monopolize, or hoard resources at the cost of others exploitation.

Laws, rules, norms, and institutions rooted in parasitic control and order, and that demand obedience, subservience, and compliance, are dissolved. Setting strong boundaries with self-serving, parasitic, hollow people, with institutions and corporations that are profit-based, that seek to dominate, coerce, extort, and exploit the collective, disguising themselves behind hollow words, marketing, trends, empty of soulful, authentic, raw truth, taking action to bring to the surface in society frameworks rooted in fear, and deception and that does not contribute to the genuine empowerment of others in an individuated and collective level and that do not honor the planet Earth, supporting the creation of frameworks, safe spaces for others to express themselves authentically, respectfully, and truthfully as the sovereign beings that they are, contributing to the elevation of the consciousness energetic frequency in alignment with the Universal frequency flow.

Frameworks in a narcissistic, delusional society are sustained by fear, control, deception, exploitation, obsession, greed, parasitism, domination, and corruption. They indoctrinate to normalize obedience, compliance, complacency, subservience, and submission to a false authority.

This is my soul's raw transmission.
