

Alchemy of a Sovereign Soul

by Pedro Lima

I incarnated into a dysfunctional, hierarchical, coercive society built on fear, scarcity, ignorance, and manipulation, an ego-based parasitic system that thrives on control, power, and obedience. From the beginning, it sought to define me through false identities, predefined roles, external approval, nationality, reducing me to a tax payer number, a name, conditioning my self-worth. Its aim was to sever me from my inner authority, my authentic sovereign truth, and my Soul's essence.

This system attempted to bind me through indoctrination, dogmas, ideologies, paradigms, propaganda, shame, guilt, and false narratives designed to seed unworthiness and normalize submission to curated, fragmented false authority figures.

When I did not comply, it escalated: coercion, gaslighting, punishment, smearing, control, manipulation, intimidation, and betrayal. The demand was clear, self-betrayal in exchange for conditional belonging, identity, and acceptance.

But through all the pain, chaos, and suffering projected onto me, I did not allow their dysfunctional egoic distortions to corrupt my heart. I never resonated with others defining who I am, what I should believe, or how I should live. I recognized the system's codependency on the harvesting of others energy, and I refused to feed it with my spirit.

Even when brought to my knees, I did not surrender my essence.
