

Soul Alchemy Over Submission

by Pedro Lima

What they did not understand is that I chose alchemy over submission, self-betrayal.

I did not retaliate, nor did I deflect their projections, I transmuted them.

In the depths of chaos, adversity, darkness, and sustained energetic external parasitic fear-based projections, I turned inward. I alchemized pain, betrayal, and suffering into healing, integration, and acceptance, chaos into clarity, discernment, and oppression into inner liberation. What was meant to bind, suppress or destroy me became the stepping stones of my alchemical journey of remembrance.

I did not wait to be saved.

I did not outsource my power.

I walked through the darkness, rediscovering, remembering, and reclaiming my inner Authority, sovereignty in authenticity.

Through self-discovery, self-remembrance, and self-reclamation, I returned to a fundamental truth:

No one owes me.

No one is entitled to my energy without my consent.

I am the author of my story no one else.

I am sovereign.

I am independent.

I am whole.

I am enough.

I did not transcend through domination, resistance, or control, but through self-awareness, self-compassion, patience, forgiveness, integrity, through inner alignment. I do not resonate with herd mentality, herd trends, herd complacency, comfort in obedience, compliance, subservience, false hierarchical status quo, or fear-based self-deceptive and self-betrayal submissive narratives disguised as belonging, safety, or acceptance.

I resonate with sovereign, authentic beings, those who refuse to compromise their inner authority, inner peace, authentic sovereignty, and inner truth for external approval, clout, curated identities, titles, roles, appeasement, control, or the maintenance of distorted, dysfunctional egoic societal narcissistic agendas, timelines, and illusions.

This is not rebellion.

This is Soul alchemical sovereign remembrance, self-liberation.
