

Engineered Obedience: How Parasitic Systems Survive on Fear, Fragmentation, and Consent

by Pedro Lima

A narcissistic, parasitic, entitled hollow dysfunctional society does not emerge by accident, or any coincidence.

It is consciously engineered through opportunistic parasitism, deceit, exploitation, control, and psychological and emotional manipulation.

Its consciousness frameworks and dynamics are not built to serve humanness, truth, or collective wellbeing.

They curate to extract, dominate, exploit and condition others to obey, comply, and be dependent and subservient.

Fear becomes the primary currency.

Propaganda becomes the language.

Indoctrination becomes education.

Secrecy becomes power.

Compliance becomes dependent on cultural morality approval.

This society does not empower sovereign, authentic, and genuine beings. It requires fragmented identities, dependent, insecure, distracted, comparing, competing with each other, seeing each other as a threat, and externally validated by parasitic false hierarchical authority figures and their curated greedy, self-serving, corrupt governance, institutional, and corporate hollow structures to survive.

Control is normalized through bureaucratic maze of laws that enforce, coerce, and punish rather than support the integration and healing.

Coercion is disguised as protection.

Oppression is rebranded as order and security.

Exploitation is justified as progress and success in this opportunistic, greedy, surface-level parasitic society.

Division is intentionally cultivated through race, class, nationality, ideology, dogma, gender, belief, because a divided population is easier to influence, shape perception, control, and govern, easier to manipulate, and exploit.

Conflict is not a failure of the system. It is the system default mode as intended by those in positions perceived as “power.”

Parasitic people and structural societal systems cannot coexist with conscious, self-regulated, self-accountable, and sovereign individuals.

So they intentionally create chaos, urgency, confusion, drama, fear, and scarcity to keep people reactive rather than reflective.

Those who question the hollow, parasitism of false hierarchies, false authority figures are labeled as dangerous, a threat to the subversive parasitic establishment web of lies, propaganda, deception, manipulation, and exploitation, a threat to the herd comfort, connivence, complacency, and agreement on being submissive, docile to the very same people and systems that exploit and enslave them.

Those who withdraw consent are ostracized, and persecuted.

Those who refuse to self-betray are targeted.

This is not how an authentic genuine and assertive leadership guides, supports, and serves others with the highest integrity, honor, dignity, and where there is a mutual respectful reciprocity rooted in truth, trust, and authentic sovereignty of each being.

This is not order. It is disorder. It is distortion. It is an illusion being casted upon others to maintain a sled-betrayal, a parasitic consciousness obsessive and fragile false sense of self, and control attachments.

It is curated hypocrisy, and egoic fragility institutionalized and normalized as prideful ignorance.

Insecurity scaled into parasitic coercive systems of control and dominance.

Unhealed trauma masquerading as false authority.

True power does not need enforcement.

Truth does not require coercion.

Integrity does not demand obedience.

The moment an individual reclaims inner authority, self-regulation over reactivity, inner discernment over indoctrination, inner sovereignty over submission, the illusion begins to crack.

Parasitic systems do not collapse because they are attacked. They collapse when they are no longer fed.

Withdraw your fear.

Withdraw your obedience.

Withdraw your self-betrayal.

Withdraw your consent.

A system that survives on your compliance and subservience was never powerful. It was only dependent on your agreement and consent.