

How Hollow Narcissistic Parasitic Societies Survive on Fear, Fragmentation, and Self-Betrayal

by Pedro Lima

A parasitic, narcissistic, surface-level society does not seek genuine, authentic, truthful, honorable, or respectful connection.

Its only objective is to plan, obsess, plot and curate fragmented, performative identities, roles, and narratives through which it lies, deceives, manipulates, and extracts, harvesting others life force as resources rather than meeting them as sovereign beings.

In this hollow, shallow, inauthentic, insecure, and dependent society, control, exploitation and domination become the ultimate petty, bitter, emotionally and psychologically distorted dysfunctional parasitic game.

Power is not embodied, it is performed, and imposed.

Worth is not inherent, it is defined, measured, and categorized.

This society survives by planting seeds of fear, conflict, greed, scarcity, speculation, deceit, secrecy, control and exploitation.

It feeds on prideful, entitled, delusional ignorance and normalized self-betrayal and consent for exploitation.

Corruption becomes acceptable.

False authority becomes legitimate.

Disorder is reframed as order.

Division is engineered to maintain the illusion of separation.

Chaos is instrumentalized.

Greed is glorified.

Victimhood is rewarded.

Inequality is justified.

Truth is perverted.

Oppression is disguised as security, and protection.

Manipulation becomes the currency of parasitic dysfunctional exploitative governance.

Codependency is normalized.

Dehumanization becomes a policy.

Egoism replaces integrity.

Justice is distorted.

Marginalization is strategic.

Fear is constant.

Misery is familiar.

Mediocrity is celebrated.

Vice is an opportunity for profit.

Prideful ignorance is institutionalized.

This is not a failure of the parasitic hollow societal system. This is a curated system meant to feed on lower energetic vibrations that arise from a society who self-victimize, allows itself to be consumed and comfortable with fear, conflict, division, clinging to chaotic manipulative parasitic illusions.

A society that cannot meet itself honestly will always seek to dominate others.

A society that refuses self-reflection will always require control.

A society that fears truth will always persecute and dismiss authenticity.

A society that feeds on fear, exploitation, and self-betrayal collapses the moment it is no longer fed with attention, agreement, self-betrayal and consent.

“A society that cannot meet itself with honesty and accountability will always seek to dominate and exploit others, because parasitism is easier to embody when consumed by fear, mediocrity, self-misery, self-conditioning, and self-victimization, rather than to live in integrity, authenticity, and honor. The illusion of control becomes an escape valve for avoiding the raw truth as it is.” - Pedro
