

Parasitic Societal Systems Collapse When the Soul Withdraws Consent

By Pedro Lima

Self-inflicted, self-miserable, and self-mediocre hollow individuals are addicted to chaos, drama, deception, manipulation, and parasitic energetic entanglement. They compulsively seek attention, reactions, and emotional supply, preying like fragile parasites in search of hosts to siphon life-force in order to sustain egoic, self-preserving, fragmented survival identities.

Their survival depends on curated narratives of victimhood, resentment, and grievance stories crafted to justify a lack of integrity, emotional depth, vulnerability, self-reflection, and courage to integrate all aspects of self. Responsibility feels threatening to an identity built on avoidance. Mediocrity, chosen and defended, disguises itself as moral outrage. Victimhood becomes a strategy.

Projection, gossip, gaslighting, blame, manipulation, deception, betrayal, and control are weaponized to avoid facing unresolved pain, suppressed trauma, fear of insignificance, and terror of irrelevance. Worth is outsourced to validation, clout, approval, status, money, power, attention, lust, and external recognition.

In this parasitic, narcissistic societal landscape, intellectual, emotional, mental, and spiritual frameworks are constructed on dishonesty and manipulation. Culture, institutions, ideologies, education, and hierarchies normalize deception, coercion, punishment, control, exploitation, superiority, conflict, and obedience. False authorities curate performative, fragmented, hollow narratives to soothe a herd self-victimized by choice; a herd dependent on systems and individuals for permission to exist.

Perception itself is conditioned. Indoctrination replaces self-discernment. Control is normalized. Lobbying and corruption are legitimized. Exploitation is justified. A docile and compliant herd agrees and consents through fear, unworthiness, comfort, complacency, pride, ignorance, and denial, to its own bondage and enslavement.

Identity becomes a number, a paper or digital ID, a role, a nationality, a bureaucratic label. Laws, rules, policies, and norms form a maze of hollow sustaining power, status, dominance, parasitism, and commodification of human life. Exploitation, hoarding, division, and subjugation are reframed as safety, progress, order, justice, freedom, democracy, and public good, while serving egoic oligarchical corrupt self-preservation, scarcity, and greedy parasitic agendas are enforced and put in place by the system.

Self-victimization becomes the currency of a hollow society consumed by unresolved pain, trauma, and fear. What is not faced within is projected outward. What is not integrated is dumped on others for carrying the emotional baggage of self-avoidant souls.

Self-accountability is not a concept to be granted by systems, laws, gurus, specialists, or institutions. It is inherent to the soul, encoded in its energetic blueprint. Until it is embodied from within, the individual remains at the mercy of circumstances, enslaved by fear-based egoic mindsets, scarcity consciousness, and the illusion of separation.

Self-betrayal in the name of appeasement will never satisfy a parasitic oligarchical hollow system designed to perpetuate disorder, chaos, exploitation, conflict, division, and dependency. No amount of compliance will bring liberation or freedom.

This narcissistic hollow society desperately searches outward for saviors, gurus, specialists, intermediaries, any middleman perceived as authority to bridge them to the Universe, ancestors, or cosmic origins, while denying their own inherent sovereignty, wisdom, creativity, abundance, and inner authority.

A herd disconnected from its own soul essence willingly outsources truth, worth, power, and discernment, forgetting that sovereignty, authenticity, abundance, and liberation arise only when aligned with one's own inner Soul's compass.

A delusional herd that, out of hate, envy, jealousy, trauma bond projects ill intent upon others who embody their authentic sovereign self's truth unapologetically, relentlessly, and cowardly works behind the scenes to bring others down, trying to destroy others to soothe their own self-miserable, mediocre, and insecure curated performative false sense of self.

Map to Soul Remembrance (Self-Accountability Pathway)

1. Withdraw projection - reclaim responsibility for your thoughts, emotions, reactions, and choices.
2. End self-betrayal - stop pleasing and appeasing fear, approval-seeking, and false belonging.
3. Integrate the shadow - meet suppressed pain, trauma, fear, envy, and pride without denial and avoidance.
4. Cultivate self-awareness - observe patterns without justification or blame.
5. Anchor inner authority - trust and embody inner discernment over external permission for existence.
6. Embodiment over ideology - live relying on your Soul's moral inner integrity compass, not any external binding and enforcing indoctrinated conditioning societal controlling narratives.
7. Sovereignty over survival - choose wholeness instead of egoic self-preservation.

Remembrance is not taught or found in any book. It is reclaimed from inner alignment.
