

The Ritualization of Obedience in a Spiritually Impoverished Narcissistic Hollow Ignorant Society Consumed by Egoic Attachments

by Pedro Lima

In a narcissistic, surface-level, transactional, self-serving society, hollow profit is glorified, profit extracted through obedience, compliance, codependency, subservience, submission, addiction, attention, and dependency. Parasitic and exploitative gain at the expense of others life-force is accepted and normalized as culture, success, and progress.

Money is equated with “power” and status, sustained through secrecy and hollow parasitic hierarchical clubs where selected groups of individuals gather to ritualize prideful, entitled ignorance and reinforce deep spiritual impoverishment driven by ego-based, curated grandiose, delusional, self-preserving fragmented mindsets.

Within these hollow constructs, hierarchy and authority are worshipped. Individuals are conditioned to do anything to climb the ladder of illusion, to reach the top of a Ponzi-like societal status quo where self-abandonment and self-betrayal become the required entry fees to belong to the so-called “elite” club.

Badges of hollow “merit” are chased in exchange for integrity. Power, control, and accumulation are pursued at any cost, learned through hoarding resources by feeding on others fear, vulnerability, ignorance, codependency, and spiritual impoverishment.

In these hollow parasitic clubs, secrecy, binding, submission, and ritualized obedience are consecrated as law. Plans are carefully curated to disseminate chaos, deception, manipulation, and propaganda, controlling perception to train others to obey, comply, submit, remain docile, and become a “good sheep,” someone who follow orders from those with a rank, a badge, a title, who themselves follow orders from those above them in a hollow, corrupt soulless hierarchy.

Plans, secrets, and conspiracies are aligned to rig societal perception in order to profit from others misery, misfortune, and downfall. Indoctrinated programs are disseminated across all levels of society to mislead, restrict, dictate, and undermine the authentic sovereign inner voices of others. Governance becomes a mechanism of domination through fear, conflict, division, propaganda, deception and exploitation.

This parasitic societal status quo structure is sustained through normalized codependency and subservience, where a few control vast resources while the many are left with crumbs, waiting for “masters”, “authorities” to save them, to grant permission to survive within a soulless, deceptive, manipulative, oligarchical parasitic status quo.

It is a landscape consumed by inner disconnection, disconnected from authentic self-alignment, inner authority, and self-trust, self-reliance on one’s inner compass, dominated instead by egoic attachments, obsessions and curated survival fragmented identities that justify deception, lying, gaslighting, manipulation, control, judgment, domination, and exploitation, all with the connivance, agreement and consent of the many.

Hypocritical, moralized, mediocre, fragmented performative identities and facades are meticulously curated to justify spiritual impoverishment and normalize ignorance, maintaining a parasitic, miserable, hollow system of disGovernance, exploitation, and enslavement.

This hollow society glorifies profit extracted through obedience.

It calls exploitation success.

It calls accumulation power.

It calls hierarchy order.

Behind closed doors, hollow clubs ritualize entitlement, secrecy, and domination. They do not create value. They extract life-force. Self-betrayal becomes the price of belonging. Submission is reframed as virtue, a duty.

The many are indoctrinated to obey those with rank, who obey those above them, inside a hollow illusion of power where everyone follows orders and no one stands in truth, integrity, honor, dignity, and authenticity. Scarcity is engineered. Dependency is normalized. Speculation is praised and valued. Crumbs from labor life-extraction are offered to the many as a salvation.

This corrupt societal hollow system is not sustained by solely force, but by individual and collective consent, connivance, maintained through distraction, egoic attachment, and disconnection from one's own inner authority, self-trust, self-reliance, self-validation, self-governance, self-accountability and self-acceptance to be the leader of its own life, rather than outsource its own inner authentic sovereign voices by relying upon the very same people and systems that strive to oppress and suppress their inner light.

A narcissistic, entitled, arrogant society, already consumed by self-betrayal, self-deception, and self-abandonment in order to sustain hollow, commodified versions of humanness, demands that others bow, please, and appease it.

It expects obedience and compliance to fear-based conditioning, rules, norms, behaviors, and beliefs designed to preserve its fragile illusions of control and superiority.

Through indoctrination, it seeks to keep new generations "in line", submissive, subservient, and dependent on external approval, while insisting that they endure inherited hoarding, greed, and the delusional commodification of human life.

New generations are pressured to carry forward outdated, curated, hollow societal cultural beliefs, divisive fear-based cultural paradigms, and corrupt hierarchical status quos that no longer serve life, truth, growth, or authentic human sovereignty, and self-governance but exist solely to protect and preserve the hollow insecurities, prideful ignorance entitlement, and unintegrated shadows of those who refuse to relinquish false power out of fear of insignificance and pride.

The moment consent is withdrawn, the moment self-betrayal ends, the entire hollow, corrupt, narcissistic parasitic energetic societal structure begins to collapse from within, and sovereign souls start to arise, integrated, whole, and self-governed from within.
