

Beyond Conditioning – The Path of Honest Self-Responsibility with Integrity of A Sovereign Soul

by Pedro Lima

As the co-creator of my humanness and ascension alchemical divine journey, I recognize that I am responsible for the consciousness frequency and resonance I choose to embody and express to the universe.

This does not mean that my life is meant to be only “love and light,” joy, and happiness. It means that whatever I have undergone, whatever I am currently experiencing, and whatever I will experience is part of my Soul’s map path that allows me to learn, grow, transcend, evolve and ascend to new levels of consciousness.

I possess the depth, wisdom, and unwavering free will to remain aware of my response to anything that attempts to bind, disrupt, distract or throw me out of alignment with the compass of my heart-mind coherence, my awareness, my inner perception and my inner discernment.

I do not compromise my self-sufficiency, self-reliance, self-trust, self-validation, or self-responsibility for my inner state in order to depend on external opinions, conditional love, approval, validation, emotions, expectations, belonging, acceptance or judgments about my inherent and uncompromising self-worth and decisions in life.

I do not rely on others to be the author of my life story.

I do not complete anyone, as no one completes me. I am whole. I am enough.

I do not self-deceive, self-abandon, or self-betray in order to appease, please, or soothe the ego of anyone else.

My authenticity, my sovereign inner truth, my inner authority, my limitless creativity, and the undeniable presence of my soul are not for sale.

I do not resonate with any parasitic societal agendas, hollow narcissistic systems, institutions, corporate or performative spectacles of curated manipulation and deception.

I refuse to participate in any fear-based theatre that demands my attention, agreement, or consent to sustain illusions built on low-consciousness chaotic dynamics.

I am not defined or measured by an ID card, a flag, an anthem, a culture of shame and guilt, or by any collective agreements rooted in self-betrayal that normalize spiritual ignorance and spiritual impoverishment.

I know who I am in truth.

No person and no system is entitled to my energy without my consent.

No system and no individual defines or measures my inherent self-worth or my sovereignty.

I do not worship or blindly follow any people, systems, ideology, dogma, cultural conditioning, or indoctrinated paradigm that demands obedience, compliance, subservience and submission.

I am not here to join any self-victimized, low-consciousness club.

Nor am I here to create one.

I am here to remember who I truly am beyond societal programming, beyond inherited conditioning, and beyond identities shaped by chaotic narcissistic parasitic environments and relationships rooted in distortion, dysfunction, and projection.

Many avoid self-accountability for their inner state and attempt to project their unresolved fears, emotional immaturity, and inner burdens onto others.

I refuse to carry what does not belong to me.

I am solely responsible for my own inner state.

I am solely responsible for my own shadow integration.

I am not responsible for anyone else's unresolved inner turmoil or their refusal to face their own shadows.

My path is in alignment with self-awareness.

My path requires I take full self-responsibility, and self-accountability for my intentions, emotions, thoughts, actions, choices, and decisions.

I am in alignment with my Soul's alchemical sovereign remembrance unapologetic path.

I am not afraid to unapologetically stand up for my true authentic sovereign self, regardless of what anyone or anything has to say about it.

I do not outsource my self-responsibility, my inner authority to anyone and anything outside myself.