

The Energetic Harvest Consent by an Unconscious Herd Feeding Hollow Parasitic Narcissistic Power

by Pedro Lima

A docile, obedient, compliant, subservient, and submissive self-victimized herd relies on, follows, believes in, and stands for ideologies, dogmas, indoctrinated cultural propaganda, guilt-tripping paradigms, traditions, identities, behaviors and hierarchical false authority figures and their corrupt, exploitative institutions and corporations carefully curated, enslaving parasitic systems that prosper through the energetic life-force harvesting of a docile, spiritually ignorant and impoverished herd.

A docile herd that outsources its own inner authority, free will, inner discernment, inner clarity, inner sovereignty, and authentic, genuine, spontaneous truthful self-expression in order to please and appease others perceived as more important, more powerful, more wealthy, someone with a rank, a title, a badge, a lot of money, or resources.

Bending.

Kneeling.

Bowing.

To someone who hides behind a maze of hollow bureaucracy, a maze of laws, rules, norms, and policies designed to enforce, coerce, and punish, reducing and diminishing anyone who does not comply, obey, self-betray, and remain submissive to the surface-level, chaotic, petty, and dramatic theatre of societal performative fragmented egoic parasitic masks of falsehood, control, deception, manipulation, exploitation, and enslavement.

The docile herd's perception is led to believe, out of spiritual ignorance, and disconnection, that it possesses freedom, "democracy," social justice, order, and progress is legitimized by individuals in "higher" ranks, false authority figures seated within systems of governance that claim the power to create laws that enforce and normalize parasitic control, mass surveillance, bluntly lying, deceiving, smearing, censoring, and secret plotting to suppress, diminish, and destroy anyone who challenges the corrupt, spiritually impoverished, hollow Ponzi fragile petty status quo.

"The house always wins" within this corrupt, narcissistic, hollow, petty, and delusional societal structure, a self-victimized, prideful, ignorant, low-consciousness hierarchical status quo that is meant to sustain dysfunctional, distorted, and dystopian environments.

Greed.

Envy.

Jealousy.

Ignorance.

Scarcity.

Speculation.

Gossiping, complaining, blaming, judging, gaslighting, hating, shaming, guilt-tripping, projecting outward by an individual and collective inner world consumed by fear, the illusion of separation, self-inflicted victimization, self-misery, self-mediocrity, self-deception, and self-betrayal.

A nationality.

A number.

A name.

A role.

A title.

A language.

All are used to define, categorize, label, identify and measure an individual and collective sense of self-worth and value.

Before birth, individuals are imprinted with a familiar institutional identity stamp of conditional approval, indoctrinating them to self-betray and self-abandon their true, authentic sovereign self for the sake of conditional, curated belonging, acceptance, love, approval, and validation by the hollow establishment liars' club. This generation has already self-betrayed and self-abandoned their own true selves to sustain hollow narcissistic parasitism.

Generations that actively and passively participate and contribute with their consent to being oppressed, mistreated, dominated, punished, and diminished by the very same false hierarchical authority figures perceived as the ones in charge, being subservient to their “masters.”

False authority figures who proudly wear badges, hollow crowns, and titles, believing themselves to be invincible, superior, above, and untouchable, demanding that newborn generations bow to the same parasitic, hollow, soulless illusions indoctrinated by the hollow low consciousness establishment status quo.

The herd is treated as livestock. A number. Disposable.

Discarded when the “masters” can no longer harvest energetic life-force through labor, chaos, drama, attention, codependency, conflict, and division.

The herd remains pressed, stressed, fearful, and anxious, completely reliant and dependent on the “masters’” grace to provide them paychecks that allow them to eat, pay bills, work hard, study hard, sleep, immerse themselves in debt, and remain codependent on people and systems merely to survive in misery and mediocrity, turning petty, bitter, resentful, actively contributing to the parasitic harvesting system that feeds on their low vibrational emotional self-victimized state.

Meanwhile, their hollow masters accumulate, profit, hoard, and benefit from the herd’s labor exploitation and well-being.

Money and hollow greedy profit at any cost is commodified, culturalized, institutionalized, normalized, and legalized within soulless corrupt systems where humans are treated as livestock, just a number to pay taxes, serve their “masters” and remain submissive to financially corrupt, parasitic, soulless, self-serving hollow systems, governed by self-impooverished petty soulless beings who profit from keeping the herd pressed, dependent, struggling in lack, and consumed by fear of not having enough.

A herd attached to soulless jobs and careers.

A herd choosing to remain at the mercy of their “masters’” grace.

Lacking self-respect.

Self-honor.

Self-sufficiency.

Self-reliance.

Self-love.

Self-sovereignty.

Lacking the courage to self-regulate and reclaim its inner authority from anyone outside itself.

Anyone.

The price of a being who self-betrays to survive, self-victimized and attached to surface-level egoic addictions, obsessions, and conditional illusions, is self-diminishment, self-stagnation, and the endurance of karmic judgment driven by unconscious, unintegrated patterns of self-sabotaging behaviors, beliefs, and habits.

The unconscious choice to cling to the victim role in life rather than taking full accountability for one's mental, physical, emotional, and spiritual inner state.

The parasitic hollow narcissistic societal system is not sustained by truth, integrity, or wisdom; it survives only through the unconscious obedience and consent of those who kneel before it.

The moment a human being remembers their inner authority, their sovereign discernment, their self-respect and self-responsibility, self-sufficiency, and self-regulates, the parasitic illusion begins to collapse.

No crown, rank, badge, title, institution, "elite" club, or hierarchy possesses inherent power over a conscious being who refuses to outsource their inner sovereignty.

The system feeds on submission and consent, but it starves in the presence of awakened individuals who reclaim their inner authority and stand upright in truth, integrity, honor, dignity, and respect for themselves.

The biggest threat to hollow power isn't rebellion; it's a Soul who refuses to kneel, follow, obey, comply with, and outsource their true sovereign authentic self-expression.
