IN THE MIDDLE OF NATURE

If you want something different, a setting that can put your mind and thought at ease, then the Notwane Equestrian is the place for you.

Nestled in Notwane, there is something beautiful and nostalgic about driving to this serene place. Whether you are driving to Notwane Equestrian to grab a bite at their Zorro Restaurant or you want to have a new look in life, and enjoy their amazing horse-riding activities, you will have plenty to look forward to with each visit. One thing that will keep you going back for more is the promise of peace that you get at this serene place. Take it this way, Notwane Equestrian/Zorro Restaurant is heaven on earth. One thing that they have which sets them apart from other establishments is the satisfaction that you get from being surrounded by nature, and getting that much needed break from the noisy city life.

You get the chance to hear your thoughts and be one with nature just by watching riders, and the horse handlers interact or sipping on your preferred drink of choice while sitting at the Restaurant and just letting your thoughts take a wild walk.

Style took a drive to the establishment on Friday afternoon, and got to appreciate and see the real beauty of this place. It was the second time that the team visited the place, having first set foot here in 2019. The same magic that made the team fall in love with the place still lingers on.

As soon as you set foot on the venue, all your worries and negative energy just evaporates. On our maiden visit, we were particularly interested in the horse riding, which lived up to the expectation. On this particular Friday, we wanted to sample the menu of the recently revamped Zorro Restaurant.

Speaking in an interview with this publication, the proud owner, Heidi Kalterherberg tells this publication that when they conceptualised the restaurant, and
