Branded mugs are the perfect desktop reminder, combining visibility with value for money. They are an all year promotional product and are popular because they work at promoting your message where your customer makes business decisions - right at their desk.

For a small additional cost, offer the mugs with individual names or photographs. Your client will appreciate a gift that is unique and personal to them.

Promotional Boxes

Lightweight and durable corrugated E-Flute cardboard material

Customization is what sets brands apart from their competitors. Having custom branded packaging for your products is a great way to imprint your brand into the minds of customers. Aside from protecting your products or giveaways from the elements, it's a strong and highly visible marketing tool.

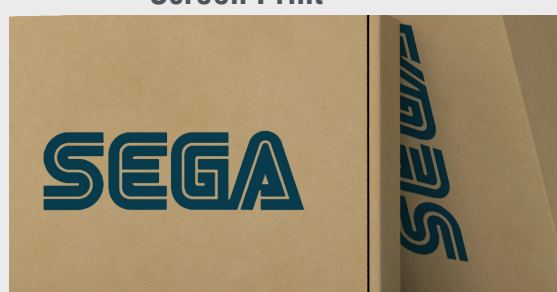

Custom packaging also serves as a point of contact that can encourage customers to share their feedback, particularly when a brand's contact details are printed upon it. In the long run, it can help companies gather information which they can use to improve products in the future.

Print your boxes in colourful designs or the appropriate complementary shades to boost your brand's personality.
