We use individual and company information that is readily available on the internet and will only contact individuals or companies whose phone numbers are not registered with TPS. We will only ever contact educators regarding opportunities that may be genuinely be of interest to them and may help them gain more income and more work.

We will only store details of teachers who have completed our application form online, providing us with consent to contact them regarding ad-hoc or permanent vacancies. You have the right for your consent to be withdrawn at any time by replying to any of our correspondence: “Unsubscribe”.

Employed Teachers:

In certain circumstances, we need your personal data to comply with our contractual obligations. For example, to add you to our payroll, we will need your full name, date of birth, home address and bank details. These will be stored confidentially and you will access your payslips in a secure log-in area to protect your security.

All of your personal information, including copies of your identification and DBS details, will be stored in our secure encrypted location and schools will have access this information by request.

By signing a contract with us, you are automatically giving us consent to contact you for future opportunities to provide you with work – whether that be on an ad-hoc or permanent basis.

Upon termination of your contract with us, we will ask you to complete a form if you would like us to keep your details on file for any future opportunities. If you do not wish to be contacted for future opportunities, we have to keep your details on file for five years to comply with employment law. However, your data will not be used and will remain dormant.

Legal compliance

If the law requires us to, we may need to collect and process your data. For example, we may need to pass on details of people involved in fraud or criminal activity to law enforcement.

Legitimate interest

In specific situations, we require your data to pursue our legitimate interests in a way which might reasonably be expected as part of running our business and which does not materially impact your rights, freedom or interests. For example, we will use your purchase history information of PPA services you have previously purchased from us to send you personalised offers or complimentary trials. We will also use your address details to send you direct marketing information by post, telling you about our services that we believe may interest you.

Why do we use your personal data?

We want to make all educators on file aware of any new opportunities that arise that may be of legitimate interest to them. We also want all schools on file aware of any new services we offer or any changes in availability for services in their area. We only store personal information that allows us to function as a business.

The data privacy law allows this as part of our legitimate interest in understanding our clients and teachers and ensuring that all opportunities are offered to all educators and that none are prioritised or discriminated against.

It is important that you are aware that if you choose not to share your personal information with us, we may not be able to provide some services that you require.

How do we process your data?

We process your data if you are a new teacher that has signed up to us in order for us to contract you to work. We also process your data if you are a new school that has enquired or signed their SLA in order for us to provide you with a teacher, monitor that provision and charge your school for that provision.

We know how much data protection matters to all of our potential teachers and schools and all of our existing teachers and schools. For this reason, your data is treated with care and precision.

All of our client and employee data is stored in our web-based CRM all of our manual systems and data ecosystems are constantly updated, reviewed and amended (if necessary).

Your data will only be used to communicate with you regarding your provision and will not be shared with third parties.

Our staff are not permitted to use USBs and you must not share class lists or school data with them. Our staff are not permitted to use personal laptops or iPads in school, they must use your computer hardware in order to comply with GDPR.

Who will we share your data with?

- If you are a teacher, the school(s) you are working in on our behalf via our secure log-in area
- If you are a school, your data will be shared with the teacher(s) we contract for your school
- We may share your details with third parties if there is ever the need to outsource any of our work to other organisations. These organisations will always comply with our Data Privacy Notice and your data will be treated in the same way.
