Dr Allan Campbell

(1836-1898)

Allan Campbell, medical practitioner and administrator, was born on 30th April 1836 in Glasgow, Scotland. Poor health cut short his study of architecture, but he qualified as a physician and worked in London. He arrived in Adelaide on 24th January 1867 and practiced with Dr H Wheeler. Next year on 30 April, he married Florence Ann, sister of (Sir) Samuel Way.

In 1876 Campbell's practical suggestions formed the basis of the report of the government's commission on sanitation, of which he was a member. It suggested increased power for the Central Board of Health, to which he was later nominated, and the appointment of district health officers. Soon Adelaide became the first Australian capital to undertake a deep-drainage system. When epidemic struck the city, Campbell and his brother Dr William Macdonald Campbell rented a Currie Street shop which they called the Children's Outpatients' Dispensary, and treated the sick, often free of charge.

He then formed a committee to raise funds to build a hospital for poor children. Two years later the Adelaide Children's Hospital and Training School for Nurses opened. Campbell's architectural knowledge had influenced its design. He lectured there on physiology and hygiene and tended the poor at the Adelaide Homeopathic Medical Charity. In 1879-91 he was on the board of management of the Adelaide Hospital.

In 1878 Campbell had been elected to the Legislative Council; he remained a member until his death. A liberal free trader, he was no orator, but was exact, 'honest and industrious', studying political economy incessantly. He sat on many parliamentary commissions, one of which recommended progressive reforms for the Adelaide and Parkside lunatic asylums. He spoke at a public meeting to discuss sweated labour among female shirtmakers, showing thorough knowledge of their frequently dehumanizing conditions. A similar sensitivity to the difficulties of the unemployed in the winter of 1893 led him to collaborate with Edith Noble and Rev B C Stephenson to devise a home-nursing scheme for Bowden, one of Adelaide's poorest suburbs. Next year he used his 'social influence and prestige' to extend this project to found the District Trained Nursing Society.

In 1895 the Children's Hospital, whose board Campbell headed, became reputedly the first in the southern hemisphere to set up a specifically bacteriological laboratory for the diagnosis of typhoid, diphtheria and tuberculosis. Two years later new isolation wards, the Allan Campbell buildings, were added. Campbell saw the projects as 'part and parcel of a great system of hygiene'. He worked unsparingly on improvements to South Australian health laws: the innovative Health Act, 1898, carried his stamp, particularly in the clauses relating to infectious diseases. His inaugural address to the Institute of Hygiene and Bacteriology, on tuberculosis and public health, urged government inspection of food supplies. Shortly afterwards another Campbell scheme, the Queen Victoria Home for Convalescent Children at Mount Lofty, was completed.

Survived by his wife, two daughters and six sons, two of whom were doctors, Campbell died of cardio-vascular disease in Adelaide on 30th October 1898 and was buried in North Road cemetery. He had been a prolific anonymous contributor to the South Australia Register in an effort to increase public understanding of sanitation, and had belonged to many religious, political, artistic, philanthropic, and professional societies. Active in all of them, he was 'no mere figure head'.

His legacy to the State was "The Beloved Physician and the Children's Friend"
There is a stained glass window in the Women's and Children's Hospital with this inscription.

The Pipes & Drums of The Royal Caledonian Society of South Australia

What started in 1894 is now commonly acknowledged as the most recognized Pipe Band in South Australia and the oldest civilian Pipe Band in the Southern Hemisphere.

Highlights for the band include performances at the international Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo's in 2001, 2007, 2011 and 2017 as well as the international Royal Edinburgh Military Tattoo's in Australia in 2005, 2010 and 2016. They also performed at the Basel Tattoo in Switzerland in 2013. In April 2025, the band will be traveling to Norfolk, Virginia, USA to perform in the Virginia International Tattoo. The Tattoo forms part of the Virginia Arts Festival and this year they are celebrating 250 years of Service and Sacrifice of the U.S. Army, Navy and Marine Corps. We are honoured to be celebrating this milestone with them.

In May 2016 they had the honour of being the only Pipe Band from Australia to be invited to perform with other International Pipe Bands at HM the Queen's 90th Birthday celebrations.

The band actively fosters the Scottish Heritage by encouraging youth involvement in music. No prior musical knowledge is required. Tuition is offered in all facets, piping, snare, tenor, bass drums and drum major. Experienced players are always welcome.

If being in a Pipe Band interests you, please contact our Band Manager for details via email rcspipeband@gmail.com or through details listed - page 27.

CLIPPER SHIP – CITY OF ADELAIDE

Discover the ship that changed South Australia and is one of Port Adelaide’s finest visitor attractions! The Clipper Ship “City of Adelaide”

The City of Adelaide is the world’s oldest surviving Clipper Ship and played a significant role in the colonial history of South Australia.

Constructed in 1864 to carry passengers to Adelaide, South Australia, she carried immigrants from places such as England, Scotland, Cornwall, Ireland, Germany and Scandinavia and made 23 return voyages. With a composite construction it was the pinnacle of sailing ship design. Only two survive today, the younger being the Cutty Sark Recovered from Scotland after a 14 year campaign to save the vessel, the City of Adelaide arrived in Adelaide in February 2014.

Mission

It is planned that the City of Adelaide will be the centrepiece of a Seaport Village, offering the perfect interactive environment for visitors to learn about Australian maritime and colonial history. The Village, in addition to maritime and colonial displays, will reflect the cultures of the passengers and crew.

The ship was moved onto land June 2024

Location: Dock Two, at the end of Honey Street, Port Adelaide

Open daily from 10am – 3pm (weather permitting – Closed if forecast 36 or over).

Tours are conducted inside the ship daily at 10 am, 12 noon and 2 pm.

Cost $20 pp or $30 for couple, Under 16 free.

(No charge for Model ship Gallery at Info Centre)

Bookings not required (except for large club groups, which can book for anytime)

Lots of free parking.

Adults with young children are responsible for their supervision, to ensure their safety, and for the comfort of other visitors.

Telephone: (08) 8337 5645

Suitable footwear required. Please note: NO tours will be held on days of extreme heat.
