

Welcome to the Wadebridge Memory Cafe

Olympic Connections

Saturday 27th July 2024

Cafe Curiosity

chat about what we see

Monitors listen out for, note down, and be ready to report back one:

Fantastic fact.

Interesting thought.

Name of a song.

In a moment we will look at a few pictures or objects.

First of all we will take a quiet minute to have a good look. {Explore}

We will think about the details we see and memories or experiences we've had that the object brings to mind. {Ponder}

Take it in turn to talk about one thing that captures our attention, enable those with memory loss to speak first. {Share}.

As a team we will come up with a name of a song inspired by the object {Sing}

Enlarge

Sports Illustrations

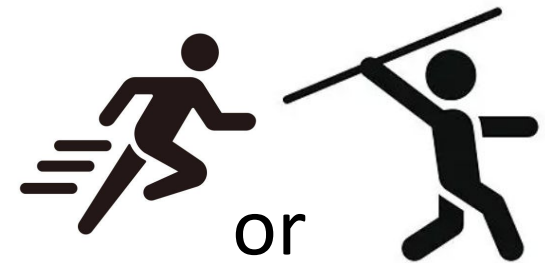

Designer: Unknown
 The sports illustrations designed for the London Games were initiated in Stockholm 1912 and Paris 1924. While in 1912/1924 these illustrations were mainly sports figures, in London in 1948 – as in Berlin in 1936 – the focus was on sports equipment. Exceptions were the sports illustrations for the swimming competitions, wrestling and athletics – where human figures can be seen. Most pictograms were two-dimensional and flat, while the perspective was chosen for athletics. The rowing pictogram was drawn from a bird's eye view. The illustrations are located in a coat of arms-like shield and separated the objects from their surroundings. The sports illustrations were used on the daily programmes and on the tickets. For the first time, signs were designed for the Opening and Closing Ceremonies as well as for the art competitions. The sign for modern pentathlon is represented by an olive wreath. Unfortunately, the designer of these signs is unknown.

LONDON	Sports Illustrations	GBR	0266--0267	GAMES OF THE XIV OLYMPIAD	1948

Which symbol goes with which car?

Which symbol goes with which aircraft?

or

Which symbol goes with which ship?

or

Which symbol goes with which dog?

or

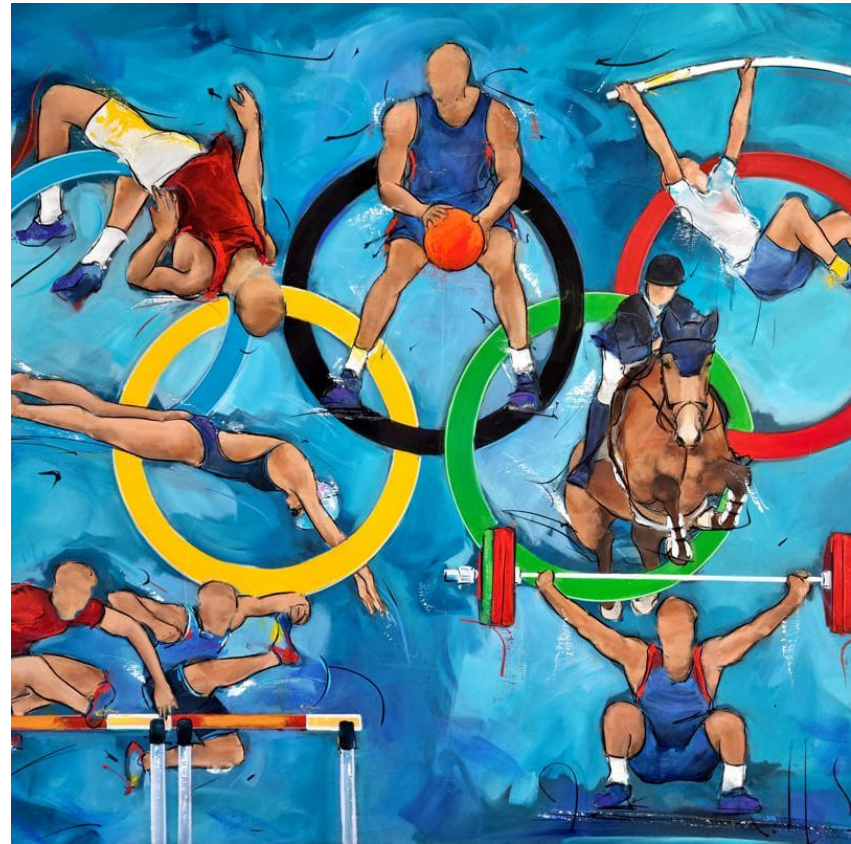

Make Our Own Olympic Pictograms

Think about the sports not mentioned in the 1948 pictograms that have taken place this year and create one using a stickman like this:

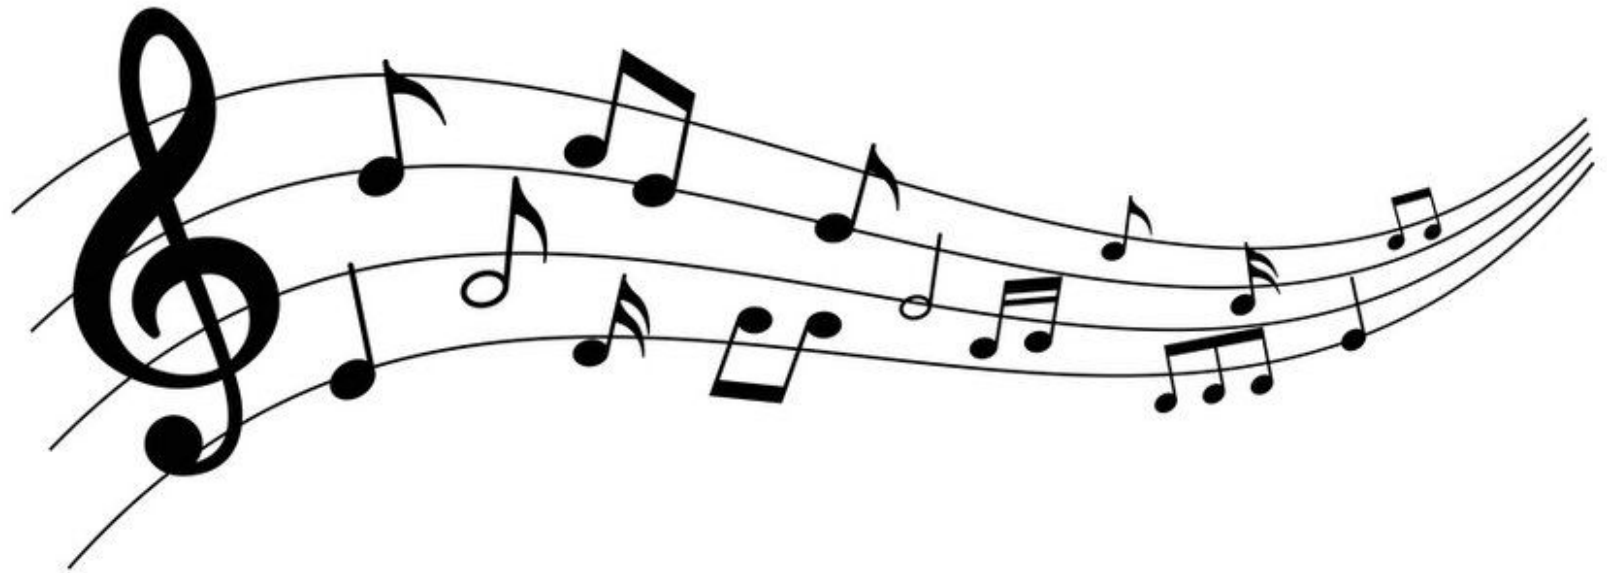

For Inspiration

Izzie's Music Extravaganza

Our Next Cafe

Saturday
24th August 2024