Message from the Priests

Rediscovering the Holy Eucharist: Part 5 (of 10)

Key Verses: John 6:22-71; Luke 22:14-20; Matthew 26:26-29; Mark 14:22-25; 1 Corinthians 11:23-29

If I could only talk about one thing for the rest of my life, it would be the Eucharist. The famous author J.R.R. Tolkien once put it this way:

Out of the darkness of my life, so much frustrated, I put before you the one great thing to love on earth: the Blessed Sacrament...There you will find romance, glory, honor, fidelity, and the true way of all your loves on earth, and more than that: Death: by the divine paradox, that which ends life, and demands the surrender of all, and yet by the taste—or foretaste—of which alone can what you seek in your earthly relationships (love, faithfulness, joy) be maintained, or take on that complexion of reality, of eternal endurance, which every man's heart desires.--Letter 43.

The Eucharist is everything. But it can also be totally misunderstood, starting with the Mass.

1. The misunderstanding among non-Catholics can be: Jesus offered His Sacrifice once and for all (see Hebrews 10). Do Catholics re-crucify Jesus at every Mass? The answer to that is, no, Jesus did indeed offer the once and eternal sacrifice on Calvary 2,000 years ago. But that saving sacrifice reverberates into our time through the concept called Anamnesis. This is the word used in the Greek New Testament at the Last Supper when Jesus commands, “Do this in remembrance of Me” (τοῦτο ποιεῖτε εἰς τὴν ἐμὴν ἀνάμνησιν) (Luke 22:19).

In Greek, there are multiple words that have to do with the act of remembering. There are words that align closely with our English meaning--to recall a fact mentally. There is also a deeper sort of recollection called mimesis. This is to remember by acting out the past event (think of a Civil War reenactment or Palm Sunday). But both of these are distinct from the word Jesus used. Anamnesis is to recall, but in such a way that--by the power of the Holy Spirit--the past event becomes present in our here and now.

We see this idea of anamnesis throughout Scripture but especially clearly in the Covenant with Moses. Much like the New and Everlasting Covenant of Jesus, the Mosaic Covenant centers around the anamnesis of a memorial meal connected with a blood sacrifice. When the Israelites are freed from captivity in Egypt, it is because a spotless lamb was killed, and its blood was spread across the wooden lintels over the door of their homes. Meanwhile, inside the home, the lamb was eaten. In Deuteronomy 26, Moses commanded that the Passover be remembered, not as a past event, but as a present reality. Throughout His life, Jesus remembered the past event of the Passover by prayerfully bringing that reality into the present every year. And it is in this vein that He commands us to remember His Passover in which a new Lamb who is infinitely spotless is sacrificed, and His Blood will be painted on the lintels of the Cross, and those under the Cross will eat the flesh of the Sacrificial Lamb. This is done, not by our own power but by the power of the Holy Spirit with Whom Jesus endowed the priest. This is why we needed to understand the priesthood before we could understand the Eucharist: because without the power of the Holy Spirit, Jesus' command to “do this in remembrance of Me” would not be possible.

Catholics do not re-sacrifice Jesus every time we celebrate the Mass. Rather, every time we celebrate the Mass, Jesus' once and eternal sacrifice breaks into our reality. Jesus really becomes present, not as an idea or a concept, but as a Presence radiating from that Sacred Host. This process is called Transubstantiation. As the Catechism puts it:

By the consecration the transubstantiation of the bread and wine into the Body and Blood of Christ is brought about. Under the consecrated species of bread and wine Christ himself, living and glorious, is present in a true, real, and substantial manner: His Body and His Blood, with His soul and His divinity.--Catechism, 1413.

2. That phrase “living and glorious” might cause some pause though. And it might lead to a second misunderstanding in which someone asks: How can we say a change happens when outwardly the Eucharist still looks like bread and wine? The answer is actually hidden there in the same sentence.

The phrase “substantial manner” is key and hearkens us to an important distinction which we find in ancient philosophers like Aristotle. In his treatise Metaphysics, Aristotle distinguishes between a thing’s substance and its accidents. Simply put, the substance of a thing is that which the thing is. The accidents are those things which can change without changing the substance. In human beings, for example, I can change all sorts of accidents by getting a haircut, moving to a different city, or gaining weight, all without changing who I really am--my substance.

In the Mass, the accidents of the bread and wine--its appearance, location, taste, etc--all stay the same. But the substance of the bread is what changes. At the words of consecration, by the power of the Holy Spirit given to the priest at his ordination, the bread stops being bread in substance and becomes the Body of the Lord. The wine likewise stops being wine in substance and becomes the Lord’s Blood. This is the miracle of the Mass: not an outward change but a real inner change. In one moment, the priest holds bread; in the next, he is only holding what looks like bread. By the power of the Holy Spirit and the authority to act in the person of Christ, the substance has changed, and now the priest holds the Body of the Lord.

Ordinarily this inner change remains hidden from our senses. The miracle of the Mass is corroborated by Scripture and reason but also by miracles. Throughout the last 2,000 years there have been many miracles, some of which have even been evaluated by modern scientific methods, in which after the consecration, the substance of the bread and wine changed into the Body and the Blood of our Lord, but so did the accidents. The bread in these miracles often became living cardiac tissue. The wine became human blood replete with living white blood cells.

3. I would even go so far as to say that the fact that this happens rarely is proof of the Eucharist. A third misunderstanding might be that if this was really true, why wouldn’t it happen all the time? Simply put, it is a mercy that God allows the accidents of bread and wine to remain.

Jesus makes clear in John 6 that we need the Eucharist. He says to us “unless you eat the Flesh of the Son of Man and drink His Blood, you have no life in you; he who eats my flesh and drinks my blood has eternal life, and I will raise him up at the last day” (verses 52-53). We must eat His Flesh. The crowd’s reaction proves that He didn’t mean this in a spiritual way (see John 6:66). In His mercy, Jesus veils Himself under the appearance of things we like to eat and drink. After all, how often would you receive Holy Communion if it looked and tasted like human heart tissue?

4. Finally, sometimes people will ask: Is all this talk about substance and accidents just a matter of using Greek philosophy to force our Catholic worldview? Far from it: faith aligns with reason; it doesn’t destroy it! Catholicism is never antithetical to science and reason. Just as nature and Scripture are ways that God speaks to us, so are logic and science. As St. John Paul II put it:

Faith and reason are like two wings on which the human spirit rises to the contemplation of truth...so that, by knowing and loving God, men and women may also come to the fullness of truth about themselves--Fides et Ratio.

God loves you and desires to feed you, not with mere food, but with His own Flesh. And He was willing to lay down His very life to give you this gift!

In Jesus, through Mary,

Fr. Witt

Baptismal Sponsors

This is an honor, but so much more. Whether for Baptism or Confirmation, being a sponsor means that you are promising to assist the parents in raising this person in the Catholic Faith. In order to fulfill that responsibility, the sponsor needs to be a practicing Catholic. This means that prayer, scripture, the sacraments and especially Mass are important priorities in his/her life. This also means that a sponsor needs to be a fully initiated Catholic who has received the sacraments of Baptism, Holy Communion, Confirmation, and, if married, was married in the Catholic Church.

Baptismal Classes

The Baptismal Class is required for all first-time parents and registration is needed prior to attendance. Please contact the Coldwater Parish office if you prefer baptism of your child at Holy Trinity, St. Anthony, or St. Mary. Please contact the Ft. Recovery Parish office if you prefer baptism of your child at Mary Help of Christians, St. Joseph, St. Paul, or St. Peter.

FUNDRAISING CONTINUES FOR ST. PAUL PARISH HALL RENOVATION PROJECT —

We want to thank you for your generosity as Phase 1 & 2 has been completely funded. The handicapped accessible bathrooms, kitchen, and the main hall are due to be completed around September 15th. The rectory windows, cry room, and confessional repairs are waiting scheduling and contractor availability. We are still in need of financial contributions for Phase 3, which will address drainage issues (water issues in the hall basement), repair/repave the parking lot, and new landscaping around the hall and church. We currently have a balance of $61,000, which is approximately 50% of the funding needed to complete Phase 3. Also, see open house information below. Feel free to reach out to any of your St. Paul Parish council members: Dustin Sudhoff, President (937) 344-1590, Lindsey Reinhard (419) 852-4446, Matt Hart (419) 852-2372, Michele Homan (419) 852-1947, Kevin Knapke (419) 305-6869, Kim Knapke (419) 852-3756.

Saint of the Week - Saint Maria Faustina Kowalska

Saint Maria Faustina Kowalska's name is forever linked to the annual feast of the Divine Mercy, the Divine Mercy chaplet, and the Divine Mercy prayer recited each day at 3 p.m. by many people. Born in what is now west-central Poland, Helena Kowalska was the third of 10 children. She worked as a housekeeper in three cities before joining the Congregation of the Sisters of Our Lady of Mercy in 1925. She worked as a cook, gardener and porter in three of their houses. In addition to carrying out her work faithfully, generously serving the needs of the sisters and the local people, Sister Faustina also had a deep interior life. This included receiving revelations from the Lord Jesus, messages that she recorded in her diary at the request of Christ and of her confessors. At a time when some Catholics had an image of God as such a strict judge that they might be tempted to despair about the possibility of being forgiven, Jesus chose to emphasize his mercy and forgiveness for sins acknowledged and confessed. "I do not want to punish aching mankind," he once told Saint Faustina, "but I desire to heal it, pressing it to my merciful heart." The two rays emanating from Christ's heart, she said, represent the blood and water poured out after Jesus' death. Because Sister Maria Faustina Kowalska knew that the revelations she had already received did not constitute holiness itself, she wrote in her diary: "Neither graces, nor revelations, nor raptures, nor gifts granted to a soul make it perfect, but rather the intimate union of the soul with God. These gifts are merely ornaments of the soul, but constitute neither its essence nor its perfection. My sanctity and perfection consist in the close union of my will with the will of God." Sister Maria Faustina Kowalska died of tuberculosis in Krakow, Poland, on October 5, 1938. Pope John Paul II beatified her in 1993, and canonized her seven years later.

Did You Know?

A Loose Cash Reminder

For those who are unaware, in the Coldwater parishes wherever loose cash is donated is where it will stay — at that particular church. Fort Recovery parishes collect all of the loose cash and then divide the loose cash amongst the Fort Recovery parishes, proportional to the number of families that belong to each particular church. If you would like your donation to stay at the church you attended in the Fort Recovery churches (or a church other than the one you attended, for that matter), place your cash in any marked envelope. (It does not have to be the envelopes provided to you by the church. The envelope should be marked with the name of the particular church to which you would like it to be sent.) This is also a good time to remember that when you go to Mass while on vacation, you can still put your envelope for your home parish in that collection, too — anywhere in the world! As long as it has your home parish and parish address listed, the money will be sent home.
