A message from Head of Investor Relations

EnviraBoard is a high-quality, fire resistant, carbon negative building board for the construction industry.

Compared to standard building boards, our internal tests show EnviraBoards to be much stronger, more versatile, more fire resistant and fully recyclable.

EnviraBoard is manufactured using secondary waste from the production of recycled paper, significantly contributing to the circular economy.

The EnviraBoard team has a wealth and depth of talent involved in this venture to drive its success.

The installed cost of EnviraBoard is expected to be below the price points of our rivals, with the objective of becoming the number one internal building board globally.

Milestones, targets and illustrative financial projections are detailed in a separate document available on request.

We are excited to begin our fundraising journey and anticipate institutional investment within 24 months from our launch date of 4th July 2024.

SEIS and EIS Advanced Assurance has been applied for from HMRC.

Nicholas Dimmock (BA MBA CASS), Head of Investor Relations

Executive summary

Using proven Danish technology, EnviraBoard provides a very competitive solution for multi-use, adaptable and flexible building boards for the construction industry. The product is environmentally outstanding as it turns paper sludge waste, from recycled paper production, into high-quality and durable building boards.

Perfect for interior applications, they can be used for façade walls, partitioning, ceilings and floors. Following the UK launch we plan to diversify the EnviraBoard range for specialist applications.

EnviraBoard Ltd now owns the IP and trade secrets of the production technology, having acquired the Danish development company.

The competitive price-quality ratio positions EnviraBoard favourably in the current UK market, with huge international potential. Even before the UK launch, we have already received expressions of interest from distributors in Scandinavia.

We have been working with the Institute for Manufacturing at Cambridge University, who assessed our production line lay-out, researched the UK market for feasible equipment suppliers, and sources of raw material and paper recycling facilities, and as a result we have obtained a letter of intent from Palm Paper for the raw material supply required (the paper sludge waste).

Using leading-edge technology, based on extensive development and production experience in Denmark, EnviraBoard is planning to establish a large UK production facility (King's Lynn) and expand into continental Europe as customer demand increases.

The global gypsum board market is estimated to be worth more than US$32 billion by 2026*. This is an opportunity for EnviraBoard to establish worldwide production facilities at up to 1,000 paper mills with recycling facilities. It is anticipated that profits of £1-2million+ a year can be achieved for each production facility.

EnviraBoard is aligned with the UN's Sustainable Development Goals (SDG) 8, 9, 11, 12.

* Source: According to Expert Market Research, the global gypsum board market reached a value of about US$25.27 billion in 2020. The market is expected to reach a value of US$32.72 billion by 2026, at a projected CAGR of 5.3% over the forecast period.

The problem

The construction industry is responsible for creating around 35-40% of the world's greenhouse gas emissions, and this needs to change.

It is now under pressure from governments, developers and consumers, and is increasingly adopting sustainable housing practices. To make a significant difference across the industry, and meet market demand, high quality recyclable boards with flexible and easy installation are needed.

We believe the majority of existing building boards are not environmentally friendly to the same extent as EnviraBoard.

Gypsum boards are the current market leader, yet as gypsum needs to be mined, their carbon footprint is significantly higher than EnviraBoard, and their recycling is problematic.

What's more, there is currently no cost-effective solution for the use of secondary waste from recycled paper production.

The EU is introducing legislation on waste prevention and to increase the uptake of secondary raw materials.

The solution

EnviraBoard directly addresses the reduction of Scope 1, Scope 2 and Scope 3 carbon emissions for the construction industry.

In line with EU legislation on waste prevention, EnviraBoard is increasing the reuse of secondary waste as EnviraBoard utilises this as raw materials in the production of a new, valuable, completely circular product with an overall carbon negative building board.

By recycling secondary paper waste, it meets government demands for reducing waste, and is an ideal solution for the construction industry as it transitions to the circular economy.

It has the potential to make a significant difference across the industry by meeting the growing demand for high quality recyclable boards with flexible and easy installation. The working quality and performance of EnviraBoard is superior to existing building materials.

Furthermore, it offers a cost-effective solution for the reuse of the secondary waste from recycled paper production. In addition, we can also reuse recycled gypsum boards as a raw material in the production of new EnviraBoards, further contributing to the reduction of emissions in the construction industry.

The strategy

Having funded the mini-plant, EnviraBoard Ltd is now raising to develop the necessary automation preparing for full-scale production as well as developing the business.

Following this we anticipate a large-scale production facility will be set up in King's Lynn, in collaboration with Palm Paper as our supplier of secondary paper sludge waste; the raw material for EnviraBoards, enabling us to launch the product to the UK market.

As part of the UK launch, we will run a six month 'warm up' marketing and sales campaign. Targeting builders' merchants, distributors, architects, DIY outlets and housing developers. This will include advertising in trade media, on social media, PR, conference exhibitions and other key channels to ensure we capture early distribution and sales.

Following the launch of the UK operation, EnviraBoard will then scale its footprint worldwide through selling turnkey EnviraBoard production facilities, which will be operated on a JV or solely owned basis, depending on the market environment.

Full share price forecasts, along with anticipated liquidity events that accompany an increase in valuation from £6.8m to £100m, are detailed in the Financial Forecasts & FAQ document, available on request.

We believe EnviraBoard has a significantly superior position in the growing demand for high quality environmental building boards in the construction industry.

Our objective is that EnviraBoard will become the definitive sustainable building board for the construction industry.
