

As Love Had Done

The evenings would leave then
As love had done inside—

The changing greens,
The broken orange,
Then darkness.

Darkness,
And many strangers' bodies
With few, if any words exchanged.

Joe L, 1983